

J&D for Large Employers

Large employers have always had access to data, but they have not really had the platform into which to drop the data to give them the visibility they need to know what to do with their wellness programs.

Now, with our Wellness Decision Engine, we are going to give them a lot more ability to work that data, understand what is going on and fine tune in order to strategically and almost surgically design a wellness program that is going to really impact that group.